BANDITS GET $80,000 IN DAYLIGHT BANK JOB

HOLD CHICAGO CASHIER AND FAMILY UNTIL VAULT UNLOCKS

Six Men Stage Bold Robbery in Chicago.

FLEE IN AUTO

Outlaws Keep Banker Prisoner in Home During Night.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Six bandits staged a daring daylight robbery of the Ravenswood National bank here today. After holding the teller and his family prisoners in their home throughout the night until the time-lock released the vault at 7:30 this morning, they forced the teller to open the safe and then escaped with $80,000 in cash and negotiable securities.

Forced to Open Vault.
The teller, George Anderson, was accosted in front of his home by the bandit sextet who forced him into the living room. There they produced sawed off shotguns and held prisoner his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Algot Anderson. At 7:25 a. m. they spirited Anderson to the bank and forced him to open the vault. The men fled in an automobile.

WINSLOW, Ariz., Dec. 31. NEWSPAPERS talk of a "whispering campaign," suggesting that Herbert Hoover is not eligible to the presidency, because, working at his profession as engineer in various parts of the world, he has not spent all of the last 14 years in the United States. The Constitution says "neither shall a person be eligible to that office who shall not have been 14 years a resident of the United States."

HERBERT HOOVER was born in the United States, has worked wherever he chose, in any part of the earth, which is the right of every American. He did not lose his citizenship or birthright by crossing the ocean.

His travels, seeing what science and engineering have accomplished elsewhere, have enabled Herbert Hoover to suggest on a sound basis, magnificent, needed projects for the United States.

The Grand Lama of Tibet is supposed to live cooped up in one place, but the United States doesn't need a Grand Lama for President.

WHEN they told Lincoln that General Grant drank too much whisky, he asked what kind of whisky, and suggested that the same be given to other generals.

It would be a good idea to find out just where Herbert Hoover has done his traveling and send some of our other statesmen on the same trip.

They need it.

531 MEN LEAVE NAVY PRISONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The population of naval prisons at Mare Island, Cal., Parris Island, S. C., and Portsmouth, N. H., has been reduced by half.

A sweeping order by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur restored liberty via the pardon route to 531 navy prisoners.

Most of those released were convicted of minor offenses and their good conduct while in prison served to win them release, Wilbur said.

CAPE FUNERAL AT 9 A. M. MONDAY

Funeral services for Joseph H. Gape, 48, who died yesterday in his home, 612 College street, after a brief illness of pneumonia, will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning in the St. Aloysius church, in charge of Father Thomas E. Walsh. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Two deaths were attributed to accidental shootings, while alcoholism caused one, according to the coroner's verdict. There was one electrocution and one death due to asphyxiation.

Two persons died of poisoning and nine others were listed as miscellaneous.

Twenty-four of the deaths occurred in East Liverpool or immediate vicinity, while five were reported from Wellsville.

Here are the deaths in the East Liverpool district:
January 5—Edgar S. McGovern, 52, painter, found dead in his shack along Carpenter's run near Claiborne avenue.

February 8—Malachi H. (Pete) Barr committed suicide by shooting himself through the head while sitting in the rear seat of his automobile in Daisy alley garage.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT IS ASKED

Long Legal Battle Looms With Year Predicted as Limit of Lima Confinement.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 31.—Characterizing Probate Judge William Lueders' insanity finding "a joke," George Remus today declared he would have the case carried to the United States supreme court, if necessary, to obtain his liberty.

Habeas corpus proceedings were introduced by his attorney immediately after the decision was announced yesterday. A hearing on the habeas corpus writ is to be held next Tuesday.

Remus, who killed his wife, Imogene, and was then found "not guilty on sole grounds of insanity," was yesterday declared insane by the probate judge and ordered committed to the state asylum at Lima.

His attorney, Charles Elston, today filed a formal application for rehearing of the lunacy charge. In case this is overruled by the probate court, Elston says he will file a bill of exceptions with the common pleas court or the appellate court, asking a new hearing. He will also ask that Remus be permitted bond, he says.

A long legal battle appears certain, since Elston says if unfavorable decision is reached.

CITY SOLONS FAIL TO MEET

But Two Members Report for Special Session.

Proposed special meeting of city council last night to consider legislation for the improvement of Dresden avenue between the city limits and West Ninth street failed to materialize.

Solons Clyde A. Goodballet and W. H. Kelly were the only members to appear. Three councilmen were reported to have been out of the city, while three colleagues had other arrangements.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore was present with blue prints and plans for the proposed improvement, submitted by the county commissioners under whose supervision the work will be done upon a 50-50 basis with the city. The legislation will be one of the first matters to occupy the attention of the new council.

FIVE DIE AS PLANE CRASHES

French Machine Smashes During Test Flight.

PARIS, Dec. 31.—Five persons were killed near Marnegonne today when a hydroplane, owned by La Teconere Mail Lines, crashed during a test flight.

The plane had hopped off at Marseilles for Algiers and was traveling at an altitude of 1,200 feet when something went wrong and the machine shot downward. It carried two pilots, two mechanics and a radio operator.

First reports from the scene indicated that the plane was the property of the Aero-Naval Transport company and was making a regular trans-Mediterranean flight with passengers, but this was corrected.

25 PASSENGERS ARE INJURED IN CRASH OF CRACK FLYER

Rescuers Try to Cut Thru Walls of Steel.

CHICAGO SMASH

Pullman Coaches of 'Hummer' Telescoped in Collision.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Ten crews worked feverishly today to cut through the steel walls of three telescoped Pullman coaches on the "Hummer" crack Chicago & Alton railroad train to liberate eight or more men and women imprisoned following a terrific crash with train No. 78 of the same railroad.

Termed Living Hell.
Both trains crashed in a freight yard here when engineers failed to observe signals due to the intense driving snow which cast a white curtain before them.

Twenty-five, and probably more, passengers on the flyer were known to have been injured and taken to a hospital in police ambulances. The extent of their injuries is not yet known. One survivor, who crawled through a jagged hole torn in the steel sides of the car staggered into the arms of a rescue worker and murmured: "It's a living hell in there. I don't know how many are dead."

Jammed Brakes Too Late.
Witnesses told police that the engineer of the "Hummer" apparently observing the rear end of the express train loomed out of the white curtain, jammed on his air brakes—too late. With a roar and crash the train crashed into the express train.

TWO 'L' TRAINS IN COLLISION

One Passenger Fatally Injured; Two Score Shaken.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Two score passengers were severely shaken and one man was reported probably fatally injured here today when two elevated trains crashed into each other.

One passenger, riding in the rear platform of the train ahead, was reported crushed when the express train, coming from the rear, struck the other train.

As flames and sparks from the third rail began attacking the coaches passengers screamed and only prompt work by elevated guards averted a panic.

The OUTER GATE by OCTAVUS ROY COHEN

CHAPTER XXXI.

She started back toward the living room. Her father's eyes were upon her—moodily, fearfully. She was a new Lois, keenly alive, responsive to every impression. Peter Borden wondered. The idea that she was genuinely in love with Bob Terry did not seem real. He was afraid that she was mistaking pity for love.

The telephone jangled. Lois moved to answer it. A man's voice came to her: crisply polite.

"Mr. Terry, please."

She summoned Bob. He instantly recognized the voice of John Carmody, and was tactful enough to conceal from Borden the identity of his caller.

"Yes?"

"Busy, Terry?"

"No sir. Not particularly."

"Hate to trouble you, but it's something important. I'd like to see you immediately at the office."

"Very well, sir. Right away."

Carmody's receiver clicked. He wasted no words. Bob returned to the living room.

"Awfully sorry, Lois—but I've got to go out."

A smile masked her disappointment. At least, she knew that the call had not come from Kathleen or Todd Shannon.

Instinctively, Bob refrained from telling her that his caller had been Carmody. Better keep that to himself. She followed him into the reception hall and handed him his hat.

"I've enjoyed this evening, Lois."

"So have I, Bob. We haven't had many." There was a wistful note in her voice.

"But we shall. One of these days when I—" He stopped abruptly. "So long. See you at breakfast."

The door closed behind him, and through the plate-glass panels she stared after him as he swung down the tree-lined walk toward the big gates.

Such a different Bob—yet so much the same. It seemed that the prison stamp would never be totally erased. There were times when he retired behind an impenetrable veil of moodiness; when his face would set into deep, stern lines and his eyes would smolder. At such times she was afraid of him, fearful of what he might be thinking. It was then that she realized she did not know the man; that there was a phase of his life for which she would always be sorry—and which she never could understand.

The night elevator man in the First National Bank building knew Terry and nodded a greeting. He stopped the car at the fourteenth floor, where Carmody's suite was located. The hallway was gloomy, illuminated by only a single light. As he moved toward the entrance, Bob wondered whether he would find Kathleen here. If it were something which brought Carmody down town on a Saturday night, there might have been need for his secretary.

Bob experienced a thrill at the idea. Somehow, away from Lois, Kathleen seemed more wonderful, more vivid, more desirable. And he was engaged to her.

Carmody was alone. He was seated behind his desk, hawklike face expressionless. The room was filled with the aroma of a perfumed cigarette which he held delicately between his fingers.

"Sit down, Terry."

"Yes, sir."

Bob seated himself and eyed his employer. Carmody seemed in no hurry to begin. His eyes told nothing, his manner was languid and indifferent. But he was studying the young man.

Todd Shannon was right, Carmody reflected. Bob was softening. That was apparent in every move, in every gesture. Now, fortunately, circumstances were such—

"Spending the evening at home?" queried Carmody.

"Yes, sir?"

"With Borden?"

"Well, not exactly, sir. He was working."

"I see. Miss Borden, eh?"

"Yes, sir."

He flicked the ash from his cigarette. "Fine girl, Miss Borden. Beautiful."

"Yes, sir."

"You're a lucky young man."

Bob's eyes narrowed slightly. "I don't understand."

"—To be in such a home as that. Luxury—all that sort of thing."

"Yes, sir."

"Feeling pretty friendly toward the old man, aren't you?"

The old light of hatred blazed in Terry's eyes. His answer was an explosive monosyllable.

"No!"

"Really, I thought—at any rate, I judge you've dropped the idea of squaring accounts with him."

"I have not!" No equivocation. No uncertainty.

"You mean that?"

"Absolutely."

Carmody smiled thinly. "We remain allies, then. You understand that I also hate Borden. I told you so from the first."

"Yes, sir."

"Well," announced the lawyer,

"that is why I called you down here tonight."

Bob leaned forward tensely. He sensed the imminence of something vital.

"What do you mean, sir?"

"Just this," Carmody's voice was razor keen. "If you wish to even matters with Peter Borden, you've got your chance. All I wish to know is this: Do you still want to make him suffer exactly as you suffered? Do you?"

And Bob Terry answered fervently—and without hesitation, "God knows I do."

Bob Terry, a man of average physique, seemed large and powerful beside the thin figure of his employer.

He was leaning forward tensely, hands on the edge of Carmody's desk, dark eyes burning into those of the other man.

Carmody was outwardly calm. Inwardly, he was seething. Now that a glorious opportunity had presented itself, he was fearful that something might go wrong. The situation seemed almost too perfect. One circumstance dovetailed with another to a nicety: he planned to ruin Borden, send Bob Terry back to the penitentiary, and again have Kathleen to himself—and all without personal danger. He was merely the brain which directed, and his alone would be the gain; of personal satisfaction, of revenge—and of hope for the girl who did not recognize him as a masculine being.

He smiled frostily as he dangled the option given Estonia in the debt settlement agreement.

Finland paid the sum of $182,210 in cash, of which $50,000 went to reduce the principal of her debt to use while the balance was a semi-annual interest payment. Hungary paid $39,724.53, of which approximately a fourth was a principal payment.

Lithuania paid $47,896.35 in cash to be credited on her seventh semi-annual interest bill. The balance, no amounting to $44,542.50, will be funded. Similarly Poland came through with $1,000,000 in cash on her indebtedness, with a balance due to be funded.

But Uncle Sam has other reasons for feeling chipper and cheerful this Christmas. One of the main ones is that he has just concluded what is characterized as one of the largest operations in the field of finance ever undertaken in time of peace. This was the calling, refunding, and retirement of the Second Liberty Loan aggregating over $3,100,000,000 during a period just one year prior to the time when he would be confronted with a maturing bond issue in excess of $2,100,000,000, and doing this on a basis that results in an annual saving in interest of about $45,000,000.

That he could do this is the most conclusive evidence that Uncle Sam's credit is absolutely gilt edged, and the feeling of satisfaction he gets out of realizing that might well result in a material increase in his chest expansion.

Thanks for putting over this gratifying bit of financing are due Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his assistants. Mr. Mellon is never so happy as when he can cut a slice off the national debt or reduce the interest charges of the government, and in this case he did both by a bold move that adds to his laurels as one of the greatest treasury department heads the nation has ever had.

The Second Liberty Loan bonds were not due until 1942, but they were callable in whole or in part beginning November 15, 1927, on six months' notice. They bore interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, however, which was the big reason for calling and refunding them all at this time, for the government has been borrowing money at from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 per cent.

But there were outstanding about $2,100,000,000 of Third Liberty Loan 4 1/2 per cent bonds which mature in September of next year and must be refunded or retired then. To attempt to refund and retire all of the Seconds this year took a great deal of cold nerve in view of the major transaction that would have to be put through next year in taking care of the then due Third.

Mr. Mellon did not hesitate, however, but early last March gave the holders of the Seconds an invitation to exchange them for 3 1/2 per cent treasury notes. This resulted in the refunding of almost half of the outstanding Seconds, and then in May the secretary called all the remainder for redemption on November 15.

Out of a series of transactions, details of which are not readily understood by laymen, the net result is that of the $3,104,000,000 outstanding last February, $575,000,000 have been permanently retired from funds available for debt reduction; $245,000,000 have been refunded into 3 1/2 per cent 16-20 treasury bonds; $1,729,000,000 have been refunded into 5-year 3 1/2 per cent notes callable at the end of three years; and the balance have been retired from the proceeds of short-term borrowings, by far the greater part of which were obtainable at 3 1/4 per cent.

Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills says that while the national financial operation, "it is undoubted that the business-like and far-seeing policies of President Coolidge and of his Secretary of the Treasury (Mr. Mellon), and the unbounded confidence of the people in them and their administration of public affairs, have been mighty contributing factors."

The policies so effective, Mr. Mills points out, include reduced expenditures, reduced taxes, and the steady reduction of the public debt, the last and most important implying a definite program rigidly adhered to and respect for that fundamental principle of sound public finance, a balanced budget.

WE GREET THE NEW YEAR
 Hewing its way to prosperity, our lusty active world has left old 1927 exhausted by the wayside. We hail our new torchbearer, as yet untired, the youthful and ambitious 1928. For twelve months he is to be our guide. He will lead where we will, for he is as inexperienced as ourselves. With a willing world behind him, he cannot but guide us to HAPPINESS in the next year.
 May peace, joy and gladness be yours,

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1927.

Advent of 1928

With the ringing of church bells, blowing of pottery whistles and sounding of fire sirens, not to mention the dangerous practice of discharging firearms, the old year will pass out and another twelve months will be welcomed at midnight tonight.

With "Happy New Year!" greeting of friend to friend, energetic efforts to avoid unnecessary work so that "we will not be doing it all year," and the desire for a black-haired stranger to be the first to cross the threshold as a good luck omen, 1928 will be ushered in. With it will be the expression of interest in another's welfare by wishes of good health, prosperity and happiness.

The day will be observed in various ways in East Liverpool. Some will take it lightly and gaily, spending New Year's Eve in fun-making and revelry. There will be others who will attend services and watch the last hours of the passing year with prayer and solemn thoughts. For still others it will be merely another holiday from routine tasks.

The advent of 1928 should be a day of taking stocking of the accomplishments of the past year and planning thoughtfully for the coming period of time, for taking new resolutions to rise above failures and overcome weaknesses.

From a business standpoint, the outlook is promising. Leaders in financial, industrial and mercantile realms are optimistic in their forecasts. And it is hoped that no small share of the expected prosperity shall fall to the lot of the pottery industry, in which the East Liverpool district is interested. The realization of this is dependent in a great measure on the action of the federal tariff commission, to which both the United States Potters' association and the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters have appealed for increased duties on imported ceramic merchandise to enable the American manufacturers to hold their home markets and maintain wages at their present high level.

Tomorrow marks a new beginning, a new year. He is wise who makes thoughtful use of it. There are psychological and spiritual values which one cannot afford to miss.

Cure For Yellow Streak

C. R. Griffith, head of the athletic research department of the University of Illinois, has recently completed a study of "yellow streaks" as found in college athletic competition. He concludes that "yellowness" is rarely inherited and that it can be overcome—two very encouraging points.

"A few men are cowardly by nature," he says, "but most men grow cowardly or unaggressive because their youth furnished them no opportunity to learn aggressiveness. The mere fact that yellow streaks are acquired places a tremendous responsibility upon the coach."

"The yellow streak may be gotten rid of only by a patient application of one-self to hard tasks. This application must continue until habits of taking the initiative and being aggressive are fully established."

Apparently the coach is thinking chiefly of a particular type of yellow streak—the one that shows up when a player fails the team in a crisis, loses his nerve or his head.

It is not possible, however, that these things are true also of yellow streaks that appear in other walks of life? A child's training has a great deal to do with the development or absence of a yellow streak in the man. A sense of independence and responsibility and co-operation with fellow-men may be born in all of us. But it certainly can be destroyed or pushed too far into the background by foolish parents or unsuitable early environment.

If something can be done to cure a yellow streak in the college athlete it may also be possible to cure it in the young man who turns to petty crime when he finds an honest life too much of a strain. It has been found that there are preventives and cures for many human ills that once were accepted as inevitable. Perhaps the yellow streak is among these.

Frontiers And Homes

Owen D. Young, who helped work out Dawes' plan for German reparations payments, ought to know something about international relations. Addressing the New England Society in New York the other day he stated a point of view well worth studying.

"A wise and brave man," said Mr. Young, "acts independently so far as he can and co-operates when he must in order to get results. So it should be with nations. Let not the greatest stand dumb when it should speak. Let it not be idle when it should act. Let it have courage and sympathy and vision. Let it assume the responsibility of a leadership commensurate with God's great gifts to it. Let it be unafraid for itself and unsuspicious of others. Let the paralysis of small views and the selfishness of littleness be condemned in our politics at home and never become a part of our policy abroad."

"Beyond the frontier America should speak as a unit, unweakened by partisan politics, and at the frontier all foreign influences should stop. Frontiers are the doors to homes. Let every man who enters behave with the courtesy due his heart. International relations are not more difficult than personal ones."

Since all the problems arising out of personal relations have not yet been solved, it is perhaps not strange that similar international relations remain difficult at many points. Yet the attitude of the wise and brave man, as described by Mr. Young, is an ideal worth striving for. And there is great hope for future international relationships in the theory that the same attitude can be applied with happy results in both cases.

About this time enough of the Christmas toys are broken and swept out so that grown-ups can get around the house without tramping on anything.

"Anti-Tipping Bill For Massachusetts." No use. Such measures always fail because the people to whom the tips are offered are too polite to refuse them.

Mussolini's a fraud. It snowed in Rome and Naples the other day, and he didn't do anything about it.

Business forecast for 1928: Generally fair and warmer.

His First Real Watch —

By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Each year Broadway offers a play theme craze. This season it dwelt upon the intimacies of life back stage. At numerous hits the curtain ascended on dressing room scenes with players before their mirrors dressing for their parts.

There is the glamour of the make-up box, the shout of the call boy, the petty jealousies and players crossing themselves before going to the footlights. It has provided a tension otherwise difficult for the stage to achieve. Yet for those who know the theatre it is rather far fetched. No calling offers more of a monotonous tedium than life back stage. Its glitter is about as lasting as its tinsel. The people who get the real thrill out of the theatre are those who compose the audience.

Mouthing the same lines and performing the same gestures day after day to a sea of strange faces is not what it is cracked up to be. It is not quite so dreary for the stars and principals, but for lesser puppets it becomes a nightmare of sameness. It is a common procedure to "crown" the final performance of even a serious drama. To most players it means loss of jobs and the long wait in casting agencies. But everybody is exuberant and playful over the prospect of a loaf.

The usual contempt bred of intimacy is pronounced in companies that have had a long run. Few friendships endure the long strain. After it is over they may speak of it all being like "one happy family," but that is seldom true.

The stage is composed chiefly of a vain and sensitive people. Sights that would go unnoticed elsewhere touch on hysterics with a skyrocket rush.

The famous Russell Brothers were real brothers who indulged their dual buffooneries for years together. Yet during the last seven years of their professional career they never spoke to each other off stage. In all that time they used the same dressing room and when matters came up requiring joint attention they exchanged notes.

Another female star does not speak to her producer. She flounced out of his office three years ago declaring she would never, never speak to him again although she has appeared in three plays under his banner since.

A few months ago a man I had known pleasantly for many years suddenly quit speaking. I ignored his part and continued to bow when we met. He told a friend I had referred to him at a certain gathering as an idiot. I didn't, for the simple reason that at that particular time I had no idea he was.

It used to be a man could walk out of a flower store carrying a presentable array of flowers for some dear one. But flowers are now too big for that. Dahlias and chrysanthemums are the size of plug hats and it takes two florist boys to deliver boxes resembling coffins.

Not that it means anything, but one cannot be a Pollyanna all one's life. I dropped into a theatre shortly before curtain time for three seats. A haughty young man in thorough annoyance said the house was sold out. Around the corner in a ticket agency an alert attendant phoned the same theatre and I went away with a slip calling for three seats on the middle aisle in the fourth row. And I got them a few minutes later at the same box office where I was told all seats were sold. No matter how firmly entrenched a business may be, it can be killed by such tactics. And they mustn't say I haven't warned them.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Uncle Sam's Christmas.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 31.—Uncle Sam did not have what would be generally regarded as a bad Christmas. On the contrary, Santa Claus did very well by him, stuffing into the old boy's stocking something like 100 millions of dollars in good, hard cash. To be exact, the amount was $96,544,830.88, but the average individual who received it would regard it as so close to the century mark in big money that he would not worry about the odd three or four millions.

It is true that this money came to Uncle Sam as payments on certain IOU's of various foreign governments which he holds, and therefore could not be looked upon, strictly speaking, as a gift. However, as every creditor knows, money received from debtors is not infrequently like a gift, and more than once in a while it is just as if it had been found where and when one wasn't looking for it. So it may be said that the substantial sum which Uncle Sam received at this merry Yuletide season, while not a gift, was quite as welcome as if it had been all of that and a whole of a surprise to boot.

The bulk of this Christmas money came from Great Britain and was the tenth semi-annual payment of interest and the fifth annual installment of principal on the funded indebtedness of that country to the United States under the terms of the settlement approved by the act of Congress of February 28, 1923. The total payment amounted to $92,575,000, of which $67,575,000 was on account of interest and $25,000,000 was to reduce the principal of the debt which Great Britain has 62 years to pay.

This payment was not in cash, but it was the equivalent thereof. Under the terms of the debt settlement Great Britain can make any payments in obligations of the United States, which must be accepted at par, and in this instance the debtor nation tendered $92,575,000 in United States treasury notes bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest. These notes were due or matured December 15 and would have had to be redeemed in cash, so that having them turned over by Great Britain was precisely the equivalent of being handed their face value in gold.

Other Contributing Nations. Seven other nations contributed to Uncle Sam's holiday cheer, Belgium heading the list with a payment of $1,125,000 in cash. This was the fifth semi-annual payment of interest on the post armistice funded indebtedness of the government of Belgium due the United States under the terms of the debt settlement approved in April of last year.

Czechoslovakia came next with a slightly larger payment—$1,500,000—also in cash. This was the fifth semi-annual installment of principal on the funded indebtedness of that country to this.

Estonia made her fourth semi-annual payment on account of her funded indebtedness to this government, turning over $75,000 in cash, the balance to be funded in accordance with

SINCLAIR OPALINE MOTOR OIL

Seals Power at every Degree of Wear

Your Speedometer Talks

—And Tells Why Even Cars of the Same Make and Model Require Different Grades of Oil.

LET'S take any three people who own the same make of car. The general idea is that they all can use the same grade of motor oil.

But, what do their speedometers say? If one car is new—if the speedometer on the second shows it has been driven "2,000 miles", and the speedometer reading for the third is "12,000 miles"—the speedometers say the degree of wear in each engine is different. It is common sense that the more miles a car travels the more space there is worn between the piston and the cylinder wall. That's why each of these cars requires a different grade of oil, and will continue to require a different grade until each has reached the same degree of wear in the cylinders.

It is in this space between the piston and the cylinder wall that oil does its biggest job. Oil must always have exactly the right body to fit that space and seal it, so that when the piston comes up there will be full compression on the compression stroke, and when it goes down there will be full power on the power stroke.

That's correct lubrication—the right grade of oil to fit the degree of wear in the cylinder as indicated by the mileage on the speedometer. That's the foundation of the Sinclair Law of Lubrication and the Sinclair Recommendation Index, the basis on which Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil is made and sold. Watch your speedometer when you buy oil and tell us your speedometer reading. We'll give you correct lubrication.

We'll give you the right grade of Opaline Oil that will give you increased compression and power... greater security and economy of operation... more mileage from gasoline... less dilution and sludge... less carbon trouble... less wear and lower repair bills... and increased pleasure in driving.

We'll give you the grade that seals the space between the pistons and the cylinder walls and reduces the noise of operation by cushioning the bearings and all moving parts in your engine. Try buying oil by mileage!

ROPE, CANVAS ARE CLUES IN 'SACK MURDER'

Los Angeles Police Seek Solution of Widow's Death.

PHYSICIAN HELD Mrs. Amelia Appleby, Wealthy Chicagoan, Victim.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—A short piece of cotton rope and a strip of canvas, found in the home of Mrs. Amelia Appleby, "Sack Murder" victim and wealthy widow of a Chicago inventor, today furnished sheriffs two incriminating clues by which they hope to solve the mystery of the woman's death for which Dr. Charles M. McMillan, her friend and business counselor, is held on suspicion of murder.

The rope and canvas, discovered in a spare room of Mrs. Appleby's home, is said by deputy sheriffs to match the material of the "murder sack" in which the slain woman's body was sewed when found on Christmas night in a ravine near San Francisco, a nearby valley town.

Suspect Denies Crime Both the canvas strip found in the murder victim's house and the bag in which her body was bundled have been patched with identical striped material and sewed with the same kind of thread.

The rope found in the woman's home was of the same weight and texture as the cord which had been tied into "surgeons' knots" to truss up the murder victim, officers reported.

Dr. McMillan, who admits he was a frequent caller at the Appleby home, denied he had ever noticed the canvas and rope anywhere in the house when questioned about the found evidence.

BAN 1927 AUTO TAGS TONIGHT

Police Will Stop Unlicensed Cars Tomorrow.

Orders to halt all cars which do not carry the 1928 license plates tomorrow were issued to the police today following the receipt of advice from Secretary of State Brown that use of 1927 plates after midnight tonight will be illegal.

Police have been instructed to hold cars while drivers appear for new plates. Motorists will not be permitted to drive until they have new plates.

J. S. Hilbert, deputy license commissioner, announced that his office in the George H. Owen & Company agency, Washington street, will be open all day Sunday and Monday for the accommodation of delinquent car owners.

Approximately 1,500 sets of plates had been issued from Hilbert's office this morning, while about 750 other motorists had obtained tags from the Columbiana County Motor club which is supplying members only.

E. M. Diehl, secretary of the motor club, will also keep his office in the Marfourth building open on Sunday and Monday for the convenience of club members.

Midnight is also the dead line for 1927 automobile license plates in West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh police have been instructed to take delinquent motorists to the nearest police station, impounding their machine in a garage. Those who seek bond will be required to post $50.

8 Trapped in Wreck

maroon-painted train ploughed through the stationary train, telescoping the last three coaches. The engine of the "Hummer" failed to leave the tracks but rested, picture-framed by the sides of the three coaches.

Many of those rushed to the hospitals were severely burned by the red hot sides of the boiler and the showers of sparks from the fire-bed of the engine.

An immediate investigation was launched by police, the coroner's office, the state's attorney's office and railroad officials.

Burn Steel, Reach Woman. The following were taken to a hospital seriously injured:

Mrs. Isabelle C. Ransom of Joplin, Mo.

Miss Dorothy Andrews of Dothan hotel, Detroit.

Miss Salena Brown of Dothan hotel, Detroit.

Two unidentified men.

Frank Ransom, 34, husband of Mrs. Ransom.

Estelle Beatty, 37, of Bloomington, Ill., fireman on the "Hummer."

Workers burned the steel through until they reached a woman held by a heavy beam. Between groans she said: "My name is Mary Stiegel of St. Louis. God, please hurry. I can't last much longer. Beside me is a woman-dead and there are more. Please try..."

She relapsed into unconsciousness. Delayed by Storm.

The first train, No. 78, a fast mail and passenger between St. Louis and Chicago, was due here at 6:45 a. m. It had been delayed by the storm and was directly in the path of the flying "Hummer" which was seeking to make up lost time when the two trains collided.

Noise of the crash, piercing screams of women and children crushed by the massive girders, and flames as the firebed of the engine exploded, brought thousands to the scene.

MR. HOOVER'S ancestors have been born and lived in America for six generations. Not that it makes any difference. The son of any immigrant, born in this country, might be, and often is, ten times better than a man with ten American generations back of him.

Part of Hoover's absence abroad was devoted to war work, feeding hungry children. Would he make a better President had he spent that time at home, working for war profits?

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, 88 years old, immediately changed his "stanch" at roll, when told by a professional that he stood too close to the ball. That change lengthened his drive by 20 yards and he won a nickel, solemnly bet, with his friend, General Ames, and went home contented.

USE SNOW PLOWS AS COLD WAVE HITS CHICAGO

Thousands of Men Work to Clear Streets.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—With the worst snow storm of the winter raging, thousands of laborers were working frantically this morning to keep the lanes of traffic open in order that downtown workers could reach their jobs on time.

Snow-plows were being run over the electric and suburban steam lines, while thousands of men with shovels were trying to keep the main traffic arteries open. Taxicabs and private automobiles were having difficulty making their way through the drifts.

The blizzard began shortly before noon yesterday. Snow continued to fall through the afternoon and night. A high northeast wind swept the flaky deluge into huge drifts. The snowfall had reached an average depth of about five inches early today, but in many places the drifts reached a depth of several feet.

The blizzard brought a sharp drop in temperature. The mercury will continue downward during the next 24 hours until it touches zero or below, according to the latest forecast bulletin.

Two deaths in Chicago already have been attributed to the storm. A great number of automobile accidents, caused by the blinding snow storm and slippery streets, have been reported.

The snow storm is general over the major portions of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri. Kansas City reported a three-inch snowfall and a rapidly declining thermometer. Zero temperatures are expected to follow in the wake of the storm.

Remus Appeals Case

decisions are received from the lower courts, the appeal will be carried to the state supreme court. Remus declares a constitutional question is involved and that unless the lower courts act favorably the appeal will go to the U. S. supreme court.

Remus points out that six prominent alienists have already declared him sane and in view of this Judge Lueders' finding is "farfetched," he says. He bears no ill will against anyone except Franklin Dodge, he said when interviewed today.

He scoffed at the statement that he is a "dangerous person." He said he never expected to meet Dodge, but declined to commit himself as to what would happen if they did meet.

"It would depend on conditions," he said.

Predicts Early Release. LIMA, O., Dec. 31.—Possibility that George Remus will be released from the state asylum here after only a few months was voiced today by Dr. W. H. Vorban, superintendent of the institution.

SNOW-BOUND GET FOOD FROM AIR

LONDON, Dec. 31.—As a fresh snowfall and continued freezing weather prolonged indefinitely the thaw of the ice and snow which has isolated many villages for almost a week, six airplanes prepared to leave the Staglane airbase today to drop food supplies to the beleaguered villages.

The planes were chartered and equipped by the Salvation Army which last night broadcast its plan over the radio. The villagers were requested to draw a black circle, 20 feet in diameter on the snow as a target for the aviators.

FALSE STORY TOLD BY 'PAL' OF GIRL-KILLER

Detroit Police Brand Ellsworth "Confession" Untrue.

GAVE SELF UP

James Ellsworth Says he Aided Young Hickman.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 31.—A boy giving his name as "James Ellsworth" who startled a policeman on the street last night by the dramatic confession: "I was with Hickman" is just a romantic youth who never even saw William Edward Hickman, confessed slayer of Marion Parker, police announced today. And his name is not Ellsworth—it is Charles Seymour, of Detroit.

Police branded the "Ellsworth confession" that he was a pal of Hickman as false after the boy had been identified as Charles Seymour by a brother, E. T. Seymour.

Seek New Evidence.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 31.—The startling admission by Mrs. Carrie M. Driskell, 42-year-old stepmother of Welby Hunt, that she and her grandson had sought to rent a double apartment in the Bellevue Arms today inspired district attorney's investigators to redouble their efforts to uncover new evidence in the Marion Parker kidnapping and murder case.

William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and slayer of the little Parker girl, says it was in his apartment in the Bellevue Arms that he held Marion captive and, unaided, put her to death.

In a previous confession, which he has since repudiated, Hickman declared a man, "Andrew Kramer," and a woman, "June Dunning," were his accomplices.

90 IN PERIL AS VESSELS CRASH

Midnight Collision Occurs Near Vineyard Haven.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Dec. 31.—Lives of 90 officers and men were endangered in a midnight collision in a heavy fog off Hedge Fence lightship between the coal-laden steamship Norfolk, Philadelphia for Portland, Maine, and the freight steamship Lake Inglenook, traveling light from Boston to New York.

With a gaping hole in her engine-room bulkhead reaching down below the waterline, Captain P. L. Brooks of the Philadelphia steamship ran the Norfolk for two miles, from the lightship to a shoal in the center of the harbor here.

The Lake Inglenook, with a deep hole in her bow but high out of the water, proceeded to New York.

Both steamships carry 45 officers and men. No injuries were reported by either ship today.

PLAN TO LOOT STORE FAILS

Another Attempt Made to Rob Green Grocery.

Another unsuccessful attempt to loot the Oakland grocery store of Councilman-elect Edward L. Green was made yesterday, according to a report which was made with police.

Green said that the glass in the front door of the establishment has been smashed, but the thieves evidently had been frightened away.

Home of Frank Shone Pleasant Heights was entered through a window last night during the absence of members of the family. The thief ransacked drawers in a bedroom dresser.

A. L. Push, Union street concrete block manufacturer, reported to police that a pair of 36x6 truck chains had been stolen from his office yesterday.

CHESTER CLUB MEETS TUESDAY

NEW YORK WILL BLOW LID OFF 1928 WITH BANG

Hotel and Night Club Reservations at Premium.

RUM PRICES CUT

Army of Dry Agents on Job in Chicago.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Broadway will blow the lid off 1928 with a bang. Almost every reservation has been taken at leading hotels, and at night clubs before dusk standing room will be at a premium.

Crowds will be as large as the prices asked.

Night clubs and hotels of the better class are demanding $15 per person. Bootleggers alone are considered. They are supplying the usual Broadway run of rum at lower prices than six months ago. And in spite of one of the wettest celebrations scheduled for Father Knickerbocker, there will be plenty left tomorrow morning for those who want at least one drink before breakfast.

Prohibition officials in raiding and wrecking the Chez Helen Morgan have not dampened the spirit of those who will greet the new year. There will be perfect rhythm at midnight be-tween the popping of the corks and the blowing off of the whistles.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—For every 500 guests who will celebrate the arrival of the New Year in Chicago hotels, cabarets and roadhouses, there will be undercover agent watching for violations of the national prohibition law.

This was the word that went out today from the office of Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley, who says he has an army of 400 highly trained and efficient dry sleuths ready for assignment to the various centers of hilarity.

"Have all the fun you want—but don't drink," was the substance of Yellowley's message to prospective New Year's merrymakers. There will be no tilting of the lid or winking at violations, it was emphasized.

The undercover men, Yellowley said, will mingle with the crowds, with no badge or uniform to distinguish them from the other guests. In the more exclusive places, where formal clothes are in order, the "spotters" will be similarly garbed, apparently bent on merrymaking.

Drinkers will run two great chances, according to the prohibition director. First, the almost certainty of being thrown in jail. Few can expect to escape them both, it was pointed out.

Eleven persons had died in Chicago to date from poison holiday liquor, according to Coroner Oscar Wolff.

Despite the "prophecy of gloom," Chicago prepared for the greatest New Year's celebration in its history. Hotel reservations are going at a premium. Cabarets, night clubs and roadhouses are practically sold out. In addition there will be any number of private parties in hotel rooms and apartments.

Forfeits Court Bond.

Cecil McCormick forfeited $16-and costs when he failed to appear before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today to answer to charges of disorderly conduct by fighting. A similar charge against Oliver Hebron was dismissed. The men were arrested in Washington street at 1:20 o'clock this morning, by Patrolman Leslie Curran.

Former Midland Girl Plays With Vanities

Dorothy Bright, Named "Miss Wheeling," Member of Cast of Earl Carroll Show.

"She was a mighty good worker" is the way Dorothy Bright, now playing with Earl Carroll's Vanities in Pittsburgh, who worked as a waitress in a Midland restaurant six months ago, is described by her former employer.

Six months ago, Dorothy, who was living with her parents in the Steel City, held down a job as waitress for M. A. Custer, manager of the Crucible Steel company plant restaurant. Custer praised Dorothy highly today.

Then she and her parents returned to Weirton, W. Va., to live. Dorothy entered a beauty contest in Wheeling and was named Miss Wheeling for 1927, so the story of her rise from pretty waitress to Vanities girl goes. Soon after her triumph in the beauty contest, Dorothy was given a contract by Carroll.

"OLD FRISCO" AT AMERICAN

Dolores Costello Stars in Chinatown Story.

"Old San Francisco," the Warner Bros. extended run production which portrays the lurid days of Chinatown and the Barbary Coast, before and during the "Great Fire," which opens a three-day run at the American Monday, is acclaimed by New York reviewers as one of the finest melodramas of the generation.

Beautiful Dolores Costello plays the part of a Spanish heiress who is kidnapped by a half-caste boss of San Francisco's underworld, and goes through weird experiences and horrors which all terminate with the furious onslaught of nature and the Great Fire which relegates "the mile of hell" to oblivion.

Warner Oland, the celebrated character actor, is featured in support of Miss Costello. The photography is starting in its revelation of what may be done with the sensitive lens and the direction of Alan Crosland adds new honors to his already famous name.

The cast includes Josef Swickard, John Miljan, William Demarest, Anders Randolph, Charles E. Mack, Sojin, Angelo Rossitto, Anna May Wong, Rose Dione, Lawson Butt, Otto Mattison, Walter McGrail, Martha Mattox and Tom Santschi.

Mrs. Kiplinger decidedly showed great surprise while the crowd in the courtroom laughed heartily. But the attorney could not understand what caused the hilarity.

Canzoneri Wins 10-Round Decision Over Taylor At Garden

BUD MUFFS BIG SHOT AT DUAL TITULARSHIP

Featherweight Tony Too Tough for Bantam King; Bout Between Winner and Bess, Pennsylvania Champ, Looms.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Bud Taylor's ambitious dream of dual titularship in two divisions today was one of those nightmares in which one is thrust suddenly into the complete cognizance of an Easter Sunday promenade, clad solely in a high silk hat. He never will hold both the world's bantamweight and featherweight championships, at least not until such time as Tony Canzoneri wears of his present career and settles down to a life of ease and refinement as a borough alderman from Brooklyn with the frock coat privilege for the Fourth of July.

Antonio, a featherweight for the first time since the Canzoneri-Taylor series began, convincingly won a ten round decision over Taylor at Madison Square Garden last night. So convincingly, in fact, that one suspects that he might be able to do so just about seven days to the normal week. Taylor went in as a virtual bantam, the highest weight he can hope to scale. In short, a chestnut, however, aged. Is always a chestnut. There is nothing really new, with which one might regale one's public, both of them. A good big man still can beat a good little man.

Canzoneri-Bass Next. And so Taylor's fancy for world conquest in yet another division was, after all, just a fancy. He didn't beat Canzoneri last night, strong as a young jack mule at slightly less than 125 pounds, whereas he had to make 120 for the other Taylor fights. I doubt, as I have said before, that Bud can beat him any night and, even if he did—or does—he still would have to reckon with Benny Bass, a champion recognized in Pennsylvania and socially ostracized elsewhere. One of them was too much for him last night; two of them should just about close the book. A Canzoneri-Bass match for the title would seem to be all that is left of the remaining chapter.

Judged solely on their respective performances, there is little to choose between Taylor and Canzoneri, merely in a man to man sense. Strength and stamina and, perhaps, better condition won for Tony last night. He could keep the pace going at all times; Taylor couldn't.

Bud did well enough by taking the first round with a last minute series of lefts to the head. He had declared for going to Tony's body before the fight, but evidently had thought better of it. Early in the second, Canzoneri scored with a hard right to the jaw, sending Taylor's gum protector flying. The punch hurt and kept right on doing it. In fact, it started Taylor on a losing fight, although Bud managed to get a stand-off in the third by living down a right uppercut flush on the jaw, followed by a barrage of lefts and then coming back with a right to the head and a series of body punches.

Tony Too Tough. The fourth saw Tony in front all the way and he took the fifth also. In spite of Taylor's late rally, feinted by Bud's rights to the head and head, Canzoneri carried the sixth by left handing the situation most of the way and was well on his way to repeating in the seventh when Taylor lashed out with a terrific right cross.

It caught Tony rushing in and, for the small fraction of 6.78 seconds, but time, the boy was teetering on the brink. While he was about it, he was forced to accept a hard right to the rotunda but the lad not only is a fighter but also tougher than a railroad depot steak. He was back fighting merrily well before the bell.

Once in the eighth, Bud beat his man to the punch with a right to the jaw. Tony really didn't feel sore, you know; just terribly hurt. Still, he was able to fight his way back to an even break on the round. Then he made his victory official by carrying the ninth, leaving Taylor the alternative of scoring a knockout in the tenth or accepting defeat. He did the latter.

Noted Double Act of Tennis Billed Today

Shields, Seligson Battle for National Junior Crown.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The famous "double" act of tennis, Frank Shields versus Julius Seligson, once more heads the bill as the national indoor junior and boys' single and double tennis championship tournament draws to a close here today.

Shields and Seligson, formerly schoolmates at Columbus grammar school, have met twice before in the final rounds of national championships. Their first meeting for a national crown occurred just a year ago, when Seligson, then a freshman at Lehigh university, triumphed over Shields for the indoor crown he is defending today. Shields evened the count last August at Forest Hills, when he won a thrilling five-set victory over Seligson to take the national outdoor championship.

Foremen of the singles court, Shields and Seligson will unite against S. Alphonse Smith and Edward Jacobs in the final round of the Junior doubles championship.

Peter Carey of Williston academy will meet Billy Jacobs, brother of Eddie, in the final round for the boys' singles championship.

AT CHICAGO.—Les Marriner, former university of Illinois football player, knocked out Mickey Smith, Chicago heavyweight, (2).

Bill Tate, veretian heavyweight, and Seal Harris of Chicago, fought a four-round draw.

County Cage Leadership Is Unsettled

Salineville-Damascus Battle Is Postponed.

Salineville was defeated last night by a score of 33 to 25, but not by Damascus of the Columbiana County league.

Tommy Cartwright, manager of the Kiwanians, today announced that the game had been postponed until a later date at the request of Manager Byrd of Damascus, the latter being unable to obtain a playing floor for the struggle. Salineville then booked in a Bethany college five in an exhibition.

The two managers did not agree upon a definite date for the postponement but will likely settle it as soon as possible.

So, as a result of the postponement, the twin leadership of the county court circuit probably will continue for a while, or at least until some of the other teams hand either the Kiwanians or the Quakers a defeat, and that, at the present time, appears to be something that won't be done every day in the week.

Teams of the circuit next week will "double up," marking the half-way point in the first half schedule.

East Liverpool and Damascus are listed for a pair of games, one here and one there; Salineville and Salem will put on a two-rounder; and Lisbon will meet Wellsville.

The week's schedule:

Monday.

East Liverpool at Damascus.

Lisbon at Wellsville.

HOPES TO MATCH HUDKINS-DUNDEE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—As a result of the re-instatement of Ace Hudkins, Nebraska welterweight, by the New York boxing commission, promoter Tex Rickard hopes to match Hudkins with Joe Dundee, the champion, in a title bout here. Dundee is still under suspension here because of the collapse of his scheduled bout with Hudkins in California and the ban must be lifted before the match can be staged in New York.

Positions On Tournney Team Ducks Prizes

Liberty Loop Will Send Squad to Pittsburgh.

Liberty duckpin league bowlers will be back on the boards again next week after the holiday layoff.

Three games are scheduled next week as follows:

Monday—Indiana Trucks vs. Bankers.

Wednesday—Smith News vs. Gulf Gas.

Friday—Altman's vs. Super Flash.

Smith News, the first half winner, will bowl it out with the second half winner for the season's championship.

As an extra incentive for bigger and better scores, the league will send the six high average men to the district dux tournament to be held in March on the Auditorium alleys in Pittsburgh.

Wednesday.

Salineville at Salem.

Wellsville at Lisbon.

Friday.

Salem at Salineville.

Damascus at East Liverpool.

Connie Mack Still Scrapping at 65

CONNIE WAS 65 YEARS OLD DEC. 25

WHEN the curtain rises next spring on the 1928 baseball season, Connie Mack, who on Dec. 23 celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday, will be starting his twenty-eighth year as skipper of the Philadelphia Athletics and his thirty-fourth consecutive year as baseball manager. Many believe this will be his last year, but that is what was said last year and the year before. No one but Cornelius McGillicuddy knows what is on Connie Mack's mind.

He is the only manager that started in the first days of the American league still holding the post. During that time he has piloted the Athletics to six pennants, 1902, 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914, and three world's championships, 1910, 1911 and 1913. But after those glorious years came seven dark seasons in the cellar. He saw the light of seventh place in 1922 and since then has been team in second place and if Connie had his way 1928 will bring back the good old pennant winning days to Philadelphia.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK.—Tony Canzoneri, recognized by the New York Boxing Commission as featherweight champion of the world, won decision over Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, Ind., recognized by National Boxing association as bantamweight champion, in ten round bout. Taylor's bantam title was not at stake.

AT BOSTON.—Roberto Roberti, heavyweight champion of Italy, won decision over Jack Gagnon, New Bedford, Mass., ten rounds.

Eddie Callahan, Nashua, N. H., kayode Dan Bright of England in third round.

Al Schooner, Hartford, Conn., outpointed Sam Hunter, Pittsburgh, fearounds.

AT ERIE, Pa.—Heavy Andrews, Erie heavyweight, kayode Jimmy Carter, Toledo, in tenth round.

AT BUFFALO.—Frank Schoell, Buffalo, outpointed Willie Lavin, also of Buffalo, ten rounds.

Ganas Sets High Mark in Dux League

Shoots 150 Average; Teams Resume Next Week.

Shooting an average of an even 150, Ted Ganas, member of the American duckpin league, topped all opposition in the opening half of the circuit.

Ganas, who bowled in 18 games, the high figures, piled up a total of 2,696 pins and was the only player in the loop to land in the 150 division.

Only four landed in the 150's, including Carlo Wilkinson, Herbert Oliver, James Christy and Johnny Morgan, although Christy and Morgan figured in only nine games.

George White shot a 214 for high individual score during the half, which was won by the Heimies' quint.

All the teams will start from scratch again next week on the final stretch and the winner will be paired off with Heimies in the series that will culminate the season.

On Tuesday night the league will swing into action again when Heimies play Turk Nash. On Thursday night the American Billiards will roll against the Victory Motors.

YANKEES SHUNT MOREHART, GIARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The winter housecleaning of the New York Yankees is proceeding merrily. Pitcher Joe Giard and Ray Morehart, utility infielder, are the latest to get the axe. They have been released to the St. Paul club of the American Association, a Yankee farm.

Morehart saw some service with the world's champions last season, but Giard, a southpaw spent most of his time collecting splinters on the bench. Giard came here from the St. Louis Browns and Morehart from the Chicago White Sox.

Sport of Kings Is Menaced By Queens

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The boys who ride, follow or cuss the ponies have been shocked. The shock came in the announcement that Promoter Jim Coffroth seriously considers the introduction of girl jockeys at Tiabuna race track, down there in Mexico, next season.

Girl jockeys are a novelty in America, but that just shows how far ahead of us Europe is in some things. Over there the gals have been booting 'em for decades. There is one race in England each year which is held especially for the sweeter sex.

The good gentlemen of the hoof business, from bookie to barn sweep, all are aghast. The very thought of a derby, a futurity or a steeplechase presided over by a bob-haired band of gigglers, has them in the throes of panic.

Imagine Flora Flash up on an oat chower 20 yards ahead of the field as the $1,000,000 Best Stakes comes near. A close, Flora is trying to make up her mind whether to hug the rail or stay out where she is when—has stopped to get a better view as the rest of the field thunders by.

Whoa! Flora has spotted a pink organdie dress trimmed with black taffeta and topped by the darlinest cloche hat up in the tenth box of the second grand stand. Flora, of course, riding in redness and roundness.

"The cats!" Flora shrieks as she stamped her foot in the judges' stand a moment later. "They saw me stop! Why didn't they wait for me to start again? I was ahead when I stopped, wasn't I?"

Police interfere as she attempts to spring on the winning jockeys. Then again, the good old races, such as the Kentucky Derby or the Futurity would disappear in favor of the Fifth Avenue Bonnet and the Bargain Hunters Stakes.

However, the good gentlemen of the hoof business may be unduly perturbed. Women have long been associated with horses in many capacities and the business has prospered and waxed rich through it all.

Few male owners have attained the success which Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney attained with her fine stable of nags.

Then there is little Judy Johnson, 19-year-old girl trainer at Belmont Park. Judy knows her horses better than most men and is one of the best riders in this country.

Another famous girl rider is Helen Johnson, sister of Art Johnson, the noted jockey. Helen is a whiz at rough second grand stand. Flora, of course, riding in redness and roundness.

VALUE PLACED ON EQUIPMENT

County Surveyor Kirk Submits Report to Commissioners.

Annual inventory of road equipment, and other chattels used exclusively by the county surveyor's office shows a valuation of $28,000 according to a report filed with the county commissioners by Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. The inventory includes trucks, motor cars, road building machinery, and every character of office equipment and supplies.

The state highway bridge department has approved the design for three bridges to be erected in this county during 1928. One of these structures is to be erected at Fredericktown and will be a four span 60-foot structure and will be built of concrete.

Another bridge is to be erected at Negley, and will be a three span structure. The third bridge is to be erected over Beaver creek at West Point on the West Point-Wellsville road and will be of either one steel span or three 60-foot concrete beam spans.

It is also proposed to widen the "one way" steel bridge over Sandy creek on the Lincoln highway west of East Rochester, and near the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad crossing at that point. With the four bridge improvements authorized, then all bridges on all improved highways will then be of a permanent nature and with a two-traffic roadway.

Two contractors who are doing the work in this county, these being J. C. McCann of Columbus who has the award for the grading of the Lisbon-Salineville road and the Allison-Harris Construction Co., of East Liverpool, recently awarded the grading work on the East Liverpool-Fredericktown-East Palestine road.

McCann is nearly finished, and is now at Beaver creek in Wayne township. Grading is progressing rapidly on this project.

Three steam shovels owned by the Allison-Harris Co., with another owned by T. W. Miller of Youngstown, a sub contractor, are engaged on the East Palestine-East Liverpool road. This grading project is the largest of its kind ever awarded in this county. It is not likely that this road will be surfaced during the coming year, and when opened will give an improved highway between the Cox highway at East Palestine on the north, southward along the eastern border of the county to the Lincoln Highway at East Liverpool.

There will be no state highway contracts awarded by the department at Columbus during January, according to advices received by Surveyor Kirk. This is on account of the road exposition which opens at Cleveland. The first 1928 letting will be at Columbus either Feb. 3 or 10, when one road and one bridge for Columbiana county will be awarded.

At a meeting of the county commissioners scheduled for next Tuesday, it is probable that other 1928 road improvement plans will be reviewed by the board.

LEETONIA PLANT IS EXPANDING

An additional kiln is to be erected by the Standard Porcelain company at Leetonia, the contract having been awarded Frank Densmore of East Liverpool. This will be the third kiln to be placed in operation by this concern since removing from East Liverpool to Leetonia.

The capacity of the pressing department is to be doubled, and eight additional presses are to be installed.

The company early in 1928 will consider the advisability of erecting the fourth kiln early in the spring. Employment is now being given about 50 people, and with the erection of the third kiln this will be increased 25 per cent.

Radio Macks Head Program at Ceramic

Broadcasting Boys Appear in Conjunction With Picture, "Underworld," During New Year's Week.

The Radio Macks—Jack Tierney and Sammy Mysels—a team of harmony singers who acquired the caption "Macks" through Ernie Golden, the famous orchestra leader, while playing an engagement at the Hotel McAlpin in New York, will headline the four-day program opening at the Ceramic theatre Monday.

They will appear in conjunction with the Paramount picture, "Underworld," a gripping melodrama, starring George Bancroft.

The songs of the Radio Macks are distinctly individual. Tierney has written such songs as "I Found A Rose in the Devil's Garden," "Am I Wasting My Time on You?" and in co-operation with his partner, Mysels, has written a song that is bidding for honor along "Tin Pan Alley." "It's Too Late, Baby, Now." On Thursday evening they will sing a "request program." Leave your request at the box office with your name attached or drop a card in care of the manager of the theatre.

"Underworld" is a melodramatic story of modern crime in a great American city. According to all reports, it dangles tears aside all the pretenses, subterfuges and ignorant ranting that have been shielding crime conditions from the eyes of truth.

Ben Hecht's story is declared to be the most startling that has yet come from his versatile pen, dealing with actual conditions that exist in a metropolitan center, these woven into a stirring romance.

THE LUCKY HOUSEWIFE

DAME NATURE stops work in the Fall
And doesn't tidy things at all.
She calmly passes
And leaves dead grasses
And wind-swept dust by every wall.

Then on some winter's morning—
snow,
Falling thick and soft and slow!
Her floors neglected,
As she'd expected,
White-carpeted, no longer show!

Alas, when I leave my debris
Strewn up and down for all to see,
No miracles hover,
My sins to cover
And hide my carelessness for me!

other, their battles with police, their marauding expeditions into treasure vaults—all are shown in a realistic manner.

The cast includes George Bancroft, Clive Brook, Evelyn Brent, Larry Seamon and Fred Kohler.
